18		FONT'	An engraved dry point etching as homage to Duchamp. The image contains a urinal on a plinth, rather like a font in a church. The window above the font, back lights some of Duchamp's chess pieces; chess became his major life interest. The light framed shadows on either side of the window reflect not the chess pieces as you would expect, but some of Duchamp's selected objects. The window illuminates a shrine celebrating a urinal, and light from the window forms a cross; a symbol of reverence, a place of contemplation with spiritual reflections of Duchamp's work. 41		Modesty Guards (set of 3)	Single urinal partition hand crafted from a timber frame and can be easily installed via the brackets on the back panels. The curvature on the front of the pieces, are three separate cuts of Tulip wood, which were then planed to a curve that gradually tapers down to the base of the piece, leaving a 5 mm over hang on each side to accommodate for the panels and their pins. This is to hide the excess suede material that covers the curve, creating a clean finish. The panels are cut from a 4 mm sheet of MDF and have been hand painted to emulate a portaflek finish, this would have been sprayed on a lot of toilet, kitchen and hospital walls in the 70's and 80's. These were then coated with three coats of house hold varnish to create the illusion of a glaze. For more information visit Fountain 17 website. http://www.fountain17.com/collaborators/exhibits/modesty-guards-josh-lloyd/	£2,750	£150			660x320x100mm
